SATURDAY, MARCH 16, 1878.

The steamer Timor sailed from Philadelphia one day this week loaded entirely with locomotives for the Russian Government.

JOHN MORRISSEY, the notorious pugilist, gambler, and Democratic ex-Member of Congress, is reported to be very ill at Jacksonville, Florida. His recovery is not expected.

MILLER, the associate of Green (who was hanged at Kansas City, a short time ago) in the murder of Marshal Hughes, has just been tried and found guilty of murder in the first degree.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean says of the late municipal elections in New York State, "that the Republicans more than held their own. The Greenbackers and labor reformers make substantial gains, generally at the expense of the Democrats."

The annual election in New Hampshire for Governor and Members of the Legislature, came off last Tuesday. Prescott (Rep.) was elected Governor, and the Republicans have also carried both branches of the legislature by large majorities.

GOLD dropped another notch this week. Last Monday it sold in New York at $1.04. This is the lowest point reached since the establishment of the gold exchange. Practically, this premium is so small that it amounts to nothing. The currency of the country is virtually on a specie basis to-day.

SOME curiosity has been expressed as to just how the new silver dollars are to be put into circulation. They are only to be paid out in the purchase of silver bullion, or exchanged at par for gold coin. The Secretary of the Treasury evidently does not think them the depreciated trash that some of the gold advocates claimed them to be, a little while ago.

In Philadelphia, one day this week, a boy only twelve years of age shot and instantly killed another boy of about the same age, over a trifling dispute about the division of a stick of candy. This is undoubtedly one of the effects of the yellow-covered, blood and thunder literature which has been so plentifully supplied to the boy of the period in the last few years.

The recent snow storm in Northern Colorado and Western Nebraska seems to have been an unusually severe one. The Union Pacific, Denver Pacific and the Colorado Central railroads were blocked with snow and ice for several days. A number of persons traveling over the country with wagons and on horseback were snowed, and five or six lost their lives.

A PHILADELPHIA special dispatch to the Chicago Tribune dated March 11th, states that the first silver dollars, coined under the new law, were struck off at the mint in that city, on the afternoon of that day. The first one coined will be presented to President Hayes, and the second to Secretary Sherman. As this dispatch has every appearance of reliability, we presume the statement in last week's paper in regard to the coinage of 250,000 of these dollars, must be considered an associated press canard.

The first ship to sail from Charleston for Liberia under the auspices of the Liberian Exodus Association is now about ready to depart. It is said that a large number of the colored people at the South will emigrate to that colony as fast as means to do so can be obtained. We believe that such an emigration is the true solution of the color question in the Southern States. We do not think that the blacks can ever hope to enjoy in this country the social and political privileges which they can have in a country peopled by their own race, and if Liberia is, as it has been represented to be, a fertile country, with a climate specially adapted to the negro, we believe such emigration ought to be encouraged to the fullest extent. It is better to emigrate than to be "bull-dozed."

The recent lynching of Charlotte Harris, (a negro woman accused of complicity in a murder case), near Harrisonburg, Virginia, was a singularly brutal affair. A large oak sapling was bent down, and a rope from its top placed about the woman's neck, and the tree allowed to spring back. The lynching took place on Wednesday, and the body was allowed to remain hanging in the air, until the following Friday. About one hundred persons are supposed to have been engaged in this little piece of Southern pastime. Verily, some of these F. V.'s are a chivalric set of villains, when they thus string up a woman with less humanity than a cur dog is entitled to. The Governor promises to offer a reward for the arrest of the murderers, but we do not believe that a single one of them will be punished in the slightest degree for their participation in this atrocious crime.

The following is an extract from a letter written by a former Kansan, who is now, and for a number of years has been a resident of Louisiana, published in the Washington correspondence of the Atchison Champion:

"The President's policy of conciliation toward the ex-rebel portion of this State has been an entire failure. The conciliation has all been on the side of the Confederates at the expense and sacrifice of the life and prosperity of Republicans. The history of this State the year preceding the last election was one of blood. Murders, whippings and burnings were modes of procedure by the organized bands of armed men to carry the election in favor of Democracy. Conciliation to such men! Hell is full of such conciliated spirits. * * *

The man who put a viper in his bosom to warm him to life was conciliatory to the viper, but he suffered the consequence. * * * I have traveled considerably through the State, and have sounded many of the citizens as to their view of the moral responsibility of killing Republicans. Why, sir, they think it no more harm, morally, to kill a Republican than to kill a rattlesnake. Many a time have I heard them laugh and joke about the killing of some one. * * *

The negroes claim that they elected the President, and hundreds of them lost their lives in doing so, and his first act was to sell them out and disfranchise them, or compel them to vote the Democratic ticket. * * *

The Democrats say here that the President is not of them, but they will use him to the best advantage, and when through will drop him."

KANSAS MATTERS.

A young cyclone passed over a portion of Woodson County, on Friday of week before last. One house was blown to pieces, and several others more or less damaged.

The Kinsley Leader says that the plains southwest of that place are literally covered with herds of buffaloes.

The case of the State vs. L. & G. Railroad Company is now being heard in the United States District Court at Atchison. The attorney for the defendant filed a demurrer to the effect that the State has no power under the charter to require the road to be operated to Leavenworth. Judge Foster overruled the demurrer, and it is thought that this ruling virtually decides the case in favor of the State.

A boy by the name of Swenson was lately accidentally shot and killed in McPherson county, by attempting to pull a loaded shot gun from a wagon.

A man named Yorker and his three-year old son, were drowned in the Saline river near Salina, a few days ago. The son fell into the river, and the father jumped in after him, and both were drowned.

Thomas Armor, a well known citizen of Lyon County, writes to the Emporia News that the much lauded Oleska wheat is a failure. Besides his own experience he gives that of a Wisconsin miller, who pronounces it "the poorest quality and lowest priced wheat in Wisconsin."

Over thirteen hundred persons have signed the Murphy pledge at Manhattan.

Charles White, of Winfield, recently fell from his wagon while intoxicated, and broke his neck.

G. W. Petty, who murdered a man by the name of Clark in Greenwood county soon after the close of the war, was lately arrested in Caldwell county, Texas, and taken back home for trial.

A man named Dillard Green was found dead in a ravine near the corner of Ninth and Ottawa streets, in Leavenworth, last Tuesday morning. He had been shot through the chest with a gun heavily loaded with buckshot, and must have died almost instantly. One Joseph Lewis has been arrested as the supposed murderer.

A music teacher named Mary Noel Gabert, died in Leavenworth Tuesday morning, from the effects of an overdose of morphine. At first it was thought she had committed suicide, but later developments make more probable that the dose was taken without any intention of causing death.

CHURCH'S MUSICAL VISITOR FOR MARCH.—Among the features of special interest in Church's Musical Visitor for March, is the "Life of Chopin," which claims the attention of musical people, and the articles on "Expressive Piano Playing," and "Frederich Wiek," the great music teacher, are no less interesting. This number also gives full particulars concerning the approaching great Cincinnati May Musical Festival, and a good description of the new organ which will be dedicated on that occasion. The editorials, correspondence and short notes, are unusually entertaining, and the music pages give a very liberal supply of late music, both easy and difficult.

Among the latter the "Sketch of Festival Ode," will interest musicians. The ballad entitled "Regret," by J. A. Butterfield, is also remarkably fine. This number also contains "When the Grass grows over Me," song and chorus, by C. C. Addison; "Golden Leaflet Schottische"; "The Last Leaf," by Jas. McGraw; and "Ripple, Little Brooklet," quartet, by C. C. Case. This is a large quantity of good music to be in a single number of a magazine costing only 15 cents, or $1.50 for a whole year. If bought at any music store, the same music would cost fully $2.00. Every subscriber to the Visitor also receives a valuable premium free. Send stamp to the publishers, John Church & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio, for particulars.

The New York papers report a decided improvement in the business prospect during the last few days. It is undoubtedly very unpleasant for general journals which have prophesied general ruin, on the passage of the silver bill, to be compelled to make such an admission as this, but they have to do it. The effect of the silver bill is being felt, in the stimulation of business all over the country.—Leavenworth Times.

It is said that ex-Senator Wade could hit a silver dollar at one hundred yards, with a rifle, at almost every shot. This fact alone would give him a very high reputation, which he would be justified in the slightest degree for their participation in this atrocious crime.

A TRACT of ground in New York City which was purchased in 1873 for $1,700,000, and for which $2,500,000 was afterwards refused, has recently been sold for $400,000.

The European war lasted less than a year. Russia declared war against Turkey on the 24th of April, 1877, and on the 2d of March, 1878, the treaty of peace was signed.

"A NOBLE STATE."

The St. Louis Post of Thursday of last week, has this to say of Kansas:

The immigration into Kansas, which has set in very early this year, is reported to be unprecedented in numbers and in the excellence of the class of immigrants. The trains on the different railroads running through the State are overloaded, and extra cars are constantly needed. Kansas is a noble State. Her prairies are the richest, her sky the clearest, her streams the most beautiful of any State along the Pacific railroads. She will welcome to her broad bosom the new-comers, and repay their labor richly in flocks and herds, corn, wheat, fruit, and all the comforts and luxuries of life.

SPECIE PAYMENTS.

Practically, this country has resumed specie payments. Gold has been quoted in New York, for several days past, at 101 1/2; in Chicago at 100 3/4; and in St. Louis at 100 1/2. This is but little more than the margin of exchange between gold and greenbacks, in commercial transactions. We have reached real resumption already; for gold, silver and greenbacks are practically on a par; and for the first time in seventeen years the country is on a specie basis. The passage of the silver bill has not disturbed the relative value of the metals, or the status of our paper currency. None of the evils the dolorous prophets of the Atlantic coast predicted have been realized. And if the financial tinkers will just stop the howling for a while, and allow the country to have a period of rest, it will enter upon such a career of prosperity as it has not seen for many years. Confidence is wanted now more than anything else. Give the country confidence, and it will bloom and blossom with an enduring prosperity.—Atchison Champion.

WHAT SHALL WE DO WITH OUR GIRLS?

Give them a good substantial education. Teach them how to cook a meal of victuals. Teach them how to darn stockings and sew on buttons. Teach them how to make shirts. Teach them how to make bread. Teach them all the mysteries of the kitchen, the dining room and the parlor. Teach them the further one lives beyond his income, the nearer he gets to the poor-house. Teach them to wear calico dresses and do it like a queen. Teach them that a rosy romp is worth fifty delicate consumptives. Teach them to foot up store bills. Teach them to wear thick, warm shoes. Teach them that God made them in His own image, and that no amount of tight lacing will improve the model. Teach them every day, hard, practical common sense. Teach them self reliance. Teach them that a good, steady mechanic without a cent, is worth a dozen silly pated loafers in broadcloth. Teach them accomplishments, painting, drawing, music—if you have the money to do it with. Teach them to say no, and stick to it; yes, and stick to it. Teach them not to paint and powder.

The Rev. Talmadge, at the Brooklyn Tabernacle, referring to the Pope's death, said: Let us be careful how we judge those who differ from us in forms of religion. I don't care whether they count their heads and cross themselves with holy water, or follow the forms of the old Methodist camp meetings. If they only have their eyes on something beyond, whether they kneel on the stone steps of St. Peter's at Rome, or on the floors of a Western log cabin, if the heart is right, everything is right. If the heart is wrong, all is wrong. "By their fruits ye shall know them."

The New York Evening Post, disposed to make the best of the silver business, says: "It is now for the permanent interest of the whole country that silver should be put to the practical test, under the most favorable conditions possible. For, if the advocates are right in what they claim for it, the beneficent results of remonetization should not be delayed for a day." All the old opponents of remonetization will wheel into line in good time.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

The Springfield (Mass.) Union asserts that in spite of his strong professions, five out of six of the President's appointments since he has been in office have been made in violation of every principle of Civil Service Reform. A large part of them have been even more personal than the appointments of Gen. Grant. The rest, with a very few exceptions have been entirely political.

The Kentucky Legislature hesitated, for weeks, about appropriating $100 for the purchase of a United States flag to hoist over the capitol, but it appropriated $10,000 for the erection of a monument to John C. Breckinridge, and at the same time voted down, by a vote of 23 to 1, an appropriation to bestow a similar honor on a Union General.
